

International Workshop on Neurodevelopmental Disorders
Focus on Gilles de la Tourette Syndrome:
From etiology to clinical presentation

Hotel Grecotel-Egnatia, Alexandroupoli, July 12 2014

<http://ts-eurotrain.eu>

9:00-10:30 The genetic basis of Gilles de la Tourette Syndrome. P. Paschou, Democritus University of Thrace, Greece

Twin and association studies of complex traits with a focus on obsessive compulsive disorder. D. Boomsma, VU University Amsterdam, Netherlands

Recurrent copy number variant phenotypes in a population sample - focus on Tourette. H. Stefansson, Decode Genetics, Iceland

10:30-11:00 Coffee Break

11:00-12:30 Role of environmental factors in the etiology of Tourette syndrome and related neurodevelopmental disorders. P. Hoekstra, Groningen University, Netherlands

Epigenetic studies related to the etiology of Tourette syndrome and comorbid disorders. C. Barta, Semmelweis University, Hungary

Pharmacological interventions in TS and the importance of the glutamatergic and GABAergic system for new treatment strategies. A. Ludolph, Ulm University, Germany

12:30-13:15 Coffee Break – Light lunch

13:15-14:45 The phenotype of tics, Gilles de la Tourette Syndrome, and obsessive compulsive disorder (including video practicing). D. Cath, Utrecht University, Netherlands; K. Mueller-Vahl, University of Hannover, Germany

Certificates of attendance will be provided

Free registration by July 5 at essts.meeting@gmail.com